FOR ALL OF YOUR ALASKA REAL ESTATE NEEDS

Carrie has lived in the great state of Alaska for more than 27 years. Her work experience started at a young age working at her father's welding shop where she taught herself bookkeeping.

Carrie started her career in the Anchorage banking industry in the early 80's as a residential loan administrator. In the 90's she managed a statewide non-profit loan program dedicated to growing small businesses in rural Alaska. By the millennium Carrie was a member of the team that started Alaska's first non-bank commercial lender.

A move to Kenai landed her at the Challenger Learning Center. In 2010 Carrie joined the Kenai Peninsula Economic Development District assisting businesses borough wide with startup issues, business planning as well as economic strategic planning and development.

More importantly Carrie has a passion for gardening and her John Deere riding lawnmower. During the summer months you will find her in her vegetable garden or flower beds. When not outdoors she enjoys working with (also known as supervising) her husband on home improvement projects.
